FOREIGN FLASHES.

Bismarck's Organ on the Execution of the Berlin Treaty.

Asiatic Turkey—European Echoes—News by Cable.

Germany.

LONDON, October 8.—The North German Gazette, Prince Bismarck's organ, considers that as in some quarters an execution against Turkey is advocated it is not inopportune to reprint the eighteenth protocol of the Berlin Congress. The protocol shows that Congress rejected both the Russian proposal and Austrian amendment respecting the control and supervision of the execution of the treaty of Berlin, and that the Turkish Plenipotentiary declared that he was ready to carry out the treaty, but declined to submit to any control.

Eastern Principalities.

LONDON, October 8.—A Paris correspondent reports there is reason to believe the fleets will seize several chief ports of the Aegean Sea to cut off supplies and money from Asia and the islands to Constantinople. A dispatch from Cettinje says the Russian Embassy has been instructed to send all officers on leave to their ships, as they sail immediately.

Turkey.

LONDON, October 8.—A dispatch from Van says the Kurdish insurrection is spreading.

England.

LONDON, October 8.—Aristocrat and North Elkhorn have been scratched for the Czarewitch.

IMPORTS.

The Board of Trade returns for the month of September show the value of imports into the United kingdom £6,500,000 in excess of the same month last year, and the value of exports £2,625,000 in excess of the same month last year.

KILLED AND INJURED.

Fatal Railroad Accident Near Boston To-Day.

BOSTON, MASS., October 8.—The through Western train for Boston (Tunnel Express) on the Fitchbury road met with an accident last night at Littleton, by which two persons were killed and several injured. The train was twenty minutes late and was rounding a curve near Littleton station when the accident occurred. The engine, baggage, smoking and parlor cars passed the station, when by some unknown cause the two rear cars were derailed and came into collision with the freight cars standing on the side track. Enos Varney, of Charlestown, master car builder of the road, had his head terribly crushed and was instantly killed. Mr. Falconer, of Ayre Junction, was terribly crushed and

DIED IN A FEW MOMENTS.

Most of the injured were brought to this city, but nearly all will recover. Dexter T. Tompkins, of Charlestown, and his wife and mother-in-law were among those who were very seriously injured and could not be removed from Littletown. Isaac Sargent, brakeman, had his hand sprained and several cuts on his body. T. J. Dickey, assistant roadmaster, received a severe scalp wound and a cut on the shoulder; H. W. Bell, of Waverly, Mass., injuries slight; Mrs. Albert Cox, of Charlestown, sustained painful injuries about the back. Several others were slightly injured, but were able to reach their destination upon the arrival of the train without assistance. Their names could not be ascertained, as they left the depot immediately. There were about forty passengers, many of whom were returning from the Unitarian Convention at Saratoga.

HANCOCK AND GRANT.

More Evidence Accumulating Against Grant's Statements.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, October 8.—A special to the Truth from Washington says: It is stated here on the highest authority that Gen. Hancock has in his possession an important letter bearing upon a portion of Gen. Grant's recent interview. Gen. Grant is reported to have said that Hancock was a very fair corps commander, but was never thought of for any great place, and that when the Army of the Potomac was hunting for a commander nobody ever suggested Hancock. The letter now in Gen. Hancock's possession is from Abraham Lincoln, and requests Hancock to take command of the Army of the Potomac. Upon the receipt of the above message a reporter was dispatched to Governor's Island to ascertain from General Hancock if such a letter from Mr. Lincoln were in his possession. The General said: "I have not such a letter in my possession. I have no doubt you have an idea of the facts, but you had better not use your information now. All this will be presented in good time and in proper shape."

DAVENPORT'S DOINGS.

Tammany Endeavoring to Checkmate His Supervisors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, October 8.—The Tammany Hall GeneralCommittee was advised yesterday to proceed against John I. Davenport's Supervisors in the United States Courts under the United States statutes when a case of offense or conspiracy against the freedom of the ballot arises out of a denial of registry to naturalized citizens of 1868. John I. Davenport issued "Instruction No. 2" to his Supervisors of Elections and reiterated his order to seize the certificates of naturalization issued in 1868. A policeman and an inspector of election were arrested on complaints of two of Davenport's Supervisors, who complained that they had interfered with them.

Narrow Escape.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, MO., October 8.—The family of Rev. M. J. Sears narrowly escaped death a day or two ago at Huntsville from poisoning. Some arsenic and flour had been put on a plate to poison rats, and the negro cook rolled the breakfast steak in the mixture and fried it. The family partook of the meat and all of them became deathly sick, but after emetics had been freely given they all recovered rapidly from the effect of the poison. At last accounts they were all doing well.

Congressional Nominations.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., October 8.—The Republicans of the Second Congressional District, after a twelve hours' session and on the eighty-eighth ballot, nominated Jonathan Chace.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., October 8.—The Democrats of the Fourteenth District nominated Lewis Beach for Congress.

KILLED IN COURT.

A Mississippi Disturbance and the Death of Both Disputants.

MEMPHIS, TENN., October 8.—Last Wednesday, at Concordia, Bolivar county, Miss., a difficulty occurred between B. F. Owen, Justice of the Peace, and J. W. Glover, a farmer. Owen was holding his court. Glover made a disturbance, and was ordered under arrest by Owen. Pistols were at once drawn by both, and firing commenced by each. Owen fell dead. Glover ran about three hundred yards and fell. He died after lingering eight hours. Both young men were of good standing in the community.

Indications.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 8.—For Tennessee and Ohio Valley, slight rise in temperature, partly cloudy weather, rain in Tennessee, stationary or slowly falling barometer and variable winds. For Lake Region, slightly warmer southeast to southwest winds, partly cloudy weather, and stationary or falling barometer. For Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valley, during the rest of Friday warmer southerly to westerly winds, clear or partly cloudy weather and falling barometer. Cautionary signals continue at Duluth, Houghton, Marquette, Escanaba, Milwaukee, Section 1, Chicago, Grand Haven, Section 3, Mackinaw and Alpena.

A FORLORN HOPE.

The Big Guns of the Radicals in Indianapolis To-Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 8.—The parade of the Boys in Blue this morning was a great success. The procession was an hour and a quarter in passing, and there were 5,103 men in line. It was very brilliant and contained large delegations from Chicago and Detroit. This afternoon Conkling is speaking at the wigwam, Emery Storrs at the Court-house and P. M. G. Maynard at Circle Park. To-night there will be a torch-light procession and fireworks. The city is full of people. U. S. Marshal Dudley pronounces as a forgery letter printed by the Sentinel this a. m. purporting to be from Dudley, giving instructions to challenge every Irish vote. Dudley will sue the Sentinel's proprietor under the Grubbs criminal libel law.

A Republican Rally.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 8.—The reunion and rally of the Boys in Blue in this city to-day is a grand success, and an immense crowd of people are in attendance. The streets are literally packed. The parade commenced this morning at 12 o'clock, and was one hour and fifteen minutes passing a given point. A number of leading manufacturers and business houses were represented in the procession.

The streets on the line of march are handsomely decorated with flags and bunting. This afternoon will be devoted to speaking. Senator Conkling, Hon. Emery Storrs, Postmaster-General Maynard and other prominent speakers will deliver addresses.

THE SHIPPING INTERESTS.

The National Commercial Convention Adopts an Important Resolution.

BOSTON, October 8.—In the National Commercial Convention the discussion on the free ship resolution was resumed, each delegate being limited to ten minutes. Several amendments were offered to the resolution, but all were voted down, and the resolution as reported by the committee was adopted in the following form:

That results have clearly and forcibly proven that under the present condition of affairs our shipping can not prosper or even maintain itself in competition with the navigation of other maritime powers. We call upon the Government to aid in the restoration of our commerce by granting a bounty of —— per ton per year for sail tonnage and —— per ton for a period of —— years after the passage of this act. This is to apply only to vessels engaged in foreign trade and not to exceed fifteen years of age.

P. E. GENERAL CONVENTION.

Report of the Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society.

NEW YORK, October 8.—Both houses of the P. E. General Convention held a joint session this morning as a Board of Missions, Bishop Smith, of Kentucky, presiding and making a brief address. Rev. Dr. Henry C. Potter, secretary of the House of Bishops, read the report of the Board of Managers of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society. Total income for missions from 1874 to 1877 was $932,897, while from 1877 to September last it reached $948,958. The Domestic Committee since the last general convention have fallen short in their returns of the standard attained in the triennium previous $120,000. The foreign, on the contrary, have advanced 138,-000 beyond any earlier figure. The Board thankfully acknowledges the efficiency of the Mexican League and the assistance of the Woman's Auxiliary. The latter of these agencies has contributed $105,524 in money, beside, books, clothing and hospital stores, valued at $208,000.

Missionary Bishop Clarkson, of Nebraska and Dakota, reported that there were within the original limits of the Diocese 58 clergymen, 60 churches and chapels, 2,700 communicants, and 600,000 people. The church property there was valued at $250,000. Rev. R. C. Williams, of Georgia, read the report of the Bishop of Yeddo, giving encouraging details of the work of the church there.

The Post-Office Department and the Lotteries.

WASHINGTON, October 8.—Acting Postmaster-General Hazen, accompanied by Judge Freeman, Assistant Attorney-General for the Post-Office Department, called on Attorney-General Devens for the purpose of consulting him in regard to the status of the lottery cases now pending before the Supreme Court of the United States. As a result of this conference, they all agreed that in consequence of the resignation of ex-Postmaster-General Key, against whom the proceedings were originally instituted by the lottery companies, the suit will be dismissed by the court.

American Board of Foreign Missions.

LOWELL, MASS., October 8.—A farewell meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions was held this morning. Reports of the various missions were read and it was stated the estimates from foreign fields call for $660,000 to prosecute the work next year. Several missionaries were introduced about to leave for foreign shores. The convention terminated with prayer, a hymn and benediction.

Held to Answer.

NEW YORK, October 8.—Thomas Finley, Inspector of Election, arrested for interfering with Supervisors of Election David W. Ives in the discharge of his duties on the last day of registration, was held by U. S. Commissioner Durel in $2,500 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

A Terrible Tragedy.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 8.—Near the town of Bisbee, Arizona, last evening, one Dodson attempted to outrage a young lady, name not ascertained. Her father rescued her. Dodson soon returned with a carbine and fired two shots, one killing the brother of the girl and the other wounding her in the arm. Dodson escaped. A party is in pursuit.

A Frightful Fate.

WATERBURY, CONN., October 8.—Two laborers, Thomas Kilroe and M. Nicol, were killed this forenoon by the caving in of a bank. Kilroe's head was mashed to jelly, and Nicol was frightfully mangled.

Incendiarism.

MANNING, S. C., October 8.—The stores of M. Levi and W. Weinburg were burned yesterday. Levi's loss, $35,000; insurance, $20,000. Weinburg's loss unknown. Incendiary.

Escape of the Pocasset Child Murderer.

SALEM, MASS., October 8.—Charles J. Freeman, the Pocasset child-murderer, escaped from the Danver's Insane Hospital this morning.

No Session.

CINCINNATI, O., October 8.—The Chamber of Commerce has voted to hold no session on Tuesday next, election day.

The Epizootic.

NEW YORK, October 8.—The epizootic is disappearing. There are but few new cases, and those are of the mildest form.

Gold.

NEW YORK, October 8.—Steamship Celtic brought $242,000 gold.

NEW YORK, October 8.—The steamship Neckar brought $674,000 gold.

The Law's Haste.

Judge Cady is determined to break down the proverbial law's delay. About 6 o'clock this morning John Murray entered a room in the Western House, and while John Hetzel was sleeping stole a coat with $4 75 in money and a revolver. He was arrested before he left the hotel, and at 10 o'clock a petit larceny warrant was sworn out against him. At 10:10 this morning his case was docketed in the Criminal Court of Correction. At 10:15 he was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to three months in the Work-house. At 6 o'clock to-day he will be a guest at that institution.

THE SHOOTING TOURNAMENT.

Contest for the Gold Medal of the St. Louis Gun Club.

Attendance on the Grounds—The Score—Incidents.

Quite a large throng was attracted to the grounds of the St. Louis Sportsmen's Club, on Grand avenue, to-day, to witness the shooting for the club medal. It is necessary for each member to shoot for this medal once a month at five birds at twenty-one yards, five at twenty-six yards, and five birds at thirty-one yards rise. The member at each shooting who makes the highest score will be entitled to wear the medal for one month. When it has been won three times by any member it becomes his property. The medal is a very handsome one and designed and made by Fred. Hugunin, one of the members of the club. Among the well-known marksmen who were noticed on the grounds were Capt. Haworth, of Quincy, Ill., who is to shoot the championship match with Bogardus to-morrow; Gwynne Price, of St. Louis; Capt. W. W. Judy; Fred. Fink, the present holder of the medal; Fred. Hugunin, and several others. R. F. Adams, the photographer, while the tournament was in progress took a picture 16x20 inches of the members of the club. He also took at times stereoscopic views of the club members as they stood grouped around the grounds. Previous to the opening of the match Captain Haworth practiced at a few birds, killing sixteen in succession without making a miss. He appears to be in excellent condition and his friends are enthusiastic over him. They say that beyond a doubt he will turn the tables on Bogardus to-morrow. After the shoot for the medal there were several sweepstakes, which were well enjoyed by those who participated in them. A great deal of time was occupied in receiving the entries for the match, and although it had been fixed to commence at twelve o'clock, it was after one o'clock before the shooters stepped up to the scratch to demolish the feathery victims. Mr. Gwynne Price was selected as score-keeper and Captain Haworth consented to act as referee. There were fifteen entries, and the shooting was carried on in a very irregular way. The first round was shot, and afterwards the score-keeper called the contestants to the line in a most promiscuous fashion. After the first two rounds the score stood: Fink, 2; Cogswell, 1; Selser, 2; Pohlman, 1; Burtwhistle, 1; Woodsworth, 1; Adams, 0; Wintrich, 2; P. Weber, 2; Krieger, 1; Field, 1; W. W. Judy, 2; Coyle, 2; Swanders, 1, and Charles Weber 1;

"Bum Whisky for the Crows."

Charles Love, a well built young negro; was up before Judge Cady to-day, charged with assaulting a saloon-keeper named Ed. Humphrey in a South Sixth street saloon with a glass. Humphrey and Ed. O'Brien, a performer at the Canterbury theater, prosecuted Love. When the darkey took the stand he kept the lawyers, Deputy Sheriffs and audience in roars of laughter by his comic description of the tussle. He said he had some colored lady friends whom the barkeeper designated as "crows," and that he went into the saloon to get a little whisky. The man behind the bar asked him if he wanted the whisky for his "crows," and as he answered in the affirmative the dealer said "bum" whisky would be rich enough for their blood. Love put the money on the counter and a nickel rolled off, when the saloon keeper asked him what he meant by slapping the money down in that manner. And here beginneth the row, which was ended by Love making a running escape. He went home and to bed, and about an hour afterwards when he opened his eyes his bed was lined with boys in blue with stars on their left breasts. He was held for intent to do great bodily harm.

Two Papers and Their Relations.

The following telegram was received at the Mayor's office:

BURLINGTON, IA., October 7.

Mayor, St. Louis: Fifty Minnesota and Dakota editorial excursionists will arrive in St. Louis at 7 a. m. Friday, by the Burlington route. Arrange at hotel and meet us.

A. DELACY WOOD, Manager.

Another paper found on the secretary's desk announces that the Mayor will enforce the ordinance relative to landing of paupers and sick who are shipped here by other cities with a view to finding treatment in our public institutions and will immediately on their arrival return them to their homes. As the secretary was at dinner, the exact relation of the two papers could not be determined.

THE largest stock of unredeemed pledges in the city for sale at a small advance over cost at I. G. Moss' Red Front.

Two Accidents.

About 2 o'clock this morning John Walsh, aged fifty-five, fell from the second story window of No. 612 North Levee, and broke his leg. An ambulance conveyed the wounded man to the Dispensary, from whence he was sent to the City Hospital. About 6 o'clock yesterday evening Thomas White, a lad of ten years, residing with his parents at 2414 O'Fallon street, was kicked on the nose by a mule in front of his home. Dr. Hendrix is attending and does not consider the boy's life in danger.

Fractured Leg.

While sitting in the window of his boarding house, at No. 612 North Levee, John Welsh lost his balance and fell to the ground, a distance of about twenty feet. His left leg was severely fractured and he was sent to the City Hospital.

THE FAIR.

The Crowds Still Large as Ever.

Awards in the Amphitheater—Cattle and Sheep Premiums.

Notes and Incidents—The Cotton Department.

The attendance to-day is of course light as compared with the great crush of the four big days of the week. Ladies predominate. Many of them have small children with them. It is essentially the day of ladies who have been to the Fair before, and know what the crush is. The rural element is, however, very strongly represented, and also by ladies. Hereafter Friday will be known as "Ladies' Day," and it is the intention of the leading members of the directory to arrange a programme interesting to the fair sex for the occasion. There are about 20,000 people on the grounds to-day. Last year the receipts on Friday were $6,000, which with the railroad coupons represented an attendance of 15,000. This year a ratio of thirty-three and a third per cent increase upon the attendance each day as compared to that of the corresponding day last year has been preserved and holds good to-day. There is an absense of enthusiasm around the booths. The departments are comfortably filled with visitors, mostly ladies, who have time to carefully examine the magnificent exhibits. To-morrow will be the same kind of day, and family parties who have avoided the discomfort of the big days, should not fail to embrace the opportunity for a pleasant day at the Fair. The directors have decided to continue the Fair over Sunday. All departments will be complete and the rule prohibiting the removal of any goods, displays or stock until Monday morning will be rigidly enforced. Sunday will be the workingman's day.

Inquiry was made to-day at the treasurer's office as to the attendance yesterday. The clerks were through counting the money, which nearly reached $25,000. The estimate of the association is that each dollar taken in at the gates represents three people. This is on account of the children who pay half-fare. The country people who buy coupons admitting to the Fair with their railroad tickets swell this estimate greatly. Yesterday was beyond any question the biggest day in the history of the Fair. The best attendance heretofore was in 1858, when the Prince of Wales was here. The cash receipts that day were $11,000 and the admission twenty-five cents, representing an attendance of over 40,000. The awards have been made in nearly all the departments. The machinery and pump tests always consume several days and are not announced for several weeks after the close of the Fair. All protests against awards made by the committees will be considered by the directory within the next fortnight. There are, however, very few instances of dissatisfaction. This afternoon the great auction sale of premium cattle commenced on the campus west of the Secretary's office under direction of Phil H. Lanham. This is an event interesting to stock breeders and exhibitors and attracts many fine cattle to the Fair.

Arena.

There was a great difference in the amphitheater to day, and the surging, endless streams of humanity in the heterogeneous assemblage of yesterday seemed to have abandoned a corporal's guard which remained to witness the last of the great Fair. The crowd was a large one, but in comparison to the thousands upon thousands of yesterday was small. The majority of visitors did not put in an appearance until about noon, the earlier hours being taken up in examining the displays in the various departments. The postponed contest in the free-for-all of yesterday brought a great many who otherwise would not have come. A number of people have been on the grounds every day, not deadheads, seemingly never being able to get a surfeit of the variety of amusements afforded by the programme. The track in the arena is scraped daily and placed in as good condition as possible, but owing to its rotundity, necessitating an almost constant turn, it is not at all conducive to fast time. Considering this and its cappiness, the time made by the winners in the various time contests is very good. Mr. Julius Walsh has distinguished himself as a manager and made many new friends.

The programme opened this morning with the exhibition of Sheep.

The awards in this department were completed this morning by the giving of premiums in the fine-wooled sheep class as follows:

CLASS A—FINE-WOOLED SHEEP.

Rams, two years old and over—First, $30, Samuel Jewett, Independence, Mo.; second, $15, same.

Yearling rams—First, $20, W. L. Archer, Dunmore, Pa.; second, $10, Samuel Jewett, Independence, Mo.

Ewe Lamb—First, $10, G. W. McFadden & Bro.; second, $5, Samuel Jewett.

Three ram lambs—First premium, $10, Samuel Jewett; second, $5, F. E. Day.

Mr. Edmund Doty, the efficient superintendent of this department, and to whom the members of the press at the Fair return obligations for courtesies extended, called attention this morning to the fact that this year the rule requiring that all sheep (except fat sheep) offered for competition must be accompanied with an affidavit sworn to before an officer authorized to administer oath, to the effect that they have been shorn since April 1, 1880, and the date must be given, was rigidly adhered to and the affidavit required in every instance.

Cotton.

The award in the cotton department did not commence until 1:30 this afternoon. There are ninety-four bales on exhibition and every State exhibited. The crop has been backward, and this accounts for the small number of bales. Many well known cotton shippers and growers are on the ground, and the members of the St. Louis Cotton Exchange are resplendent in gorgeous badges.

Notes.

The dwarf, Gen. Chas. Decker, was on hand every day selling his pictures.

The calliopes or steam pianos kept up a constant toot for the gratification of "grays."

The grounds, during the week, presented the appearance of a densely crowded picnic. Parties were scattered everywhere munching sandwiches and eggs.

This morning a rather amusing episode occurred near the Third District Police Station. The "Bus" used for conveying prisoners to the Work-house and jail had just driven up, and a crowd of "yokels" congregated in the vicinity, looking for transportation to the Fair, hailed the driver and asked him what was the fare. "Fifty cents," answered the driver. "Well, I reckon we'd better get on," said one, and about fifteen rushed in for seats. A moment after an officer appeared with a number of handcuffs. Finding that they were to be manacled, the gentlemen from the interior concluded to take some other conveyance.

Mechanical Department.

The FIRST premium for FINEST display was awarded to MERMOD, JACCARD & CO., Jewelers, Fourth and Locust. Be certain to examine their magnificent display in TEXTILE HALL.

Minnesota Editorial Association.

The Minnesota Editorial Association, to the number of about forty, arrived in the city this morning on their annual jaunt. They came by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway in a special car. After breakfasting at the Laclede they went right out to the Fair. They will remain over to-night and return home to-morrow night. There are several ladies with the party. The following is a list of those stopping at the Laclede: H. Mattson, P. F. Midt and M. Sherman, Minneapolis Evening Journal; Henry Huoz, Chicopee Review; H. E. Lawrence, Northfield News; W. H. Wright, Marshall News; O. F. Collier, Lake City; H. E. Newton and lady, Minneapolis; H. P. Wood and lady, St. Paul; A. G. Carson and wife, St. Paul; C. F. Case and wife, Marshall; B. B. Herbert, Red Wing Advance; John Flittie, Grand Forks Herald; J. W. Cunningham, St. Paul Press; Frank Matchett and F. L. Wood, Jordan Advocate; L. E. Crane and wife, Rochester Record and Union; J. M. Broome and wife, Beobackler, Mankato; C. A. Numaskie, Minneapolis Evening Journal; C. D. Wood, Macoupin; E. P. Petersen, Litchfield; C. W. Bowen, Litchfield; B. C. Sanborn and wife, Madelia Times.

New Buildings.

A. Rafael will build a $400 brick dwelling on the southeast corner of Pestilozze and California streets.

P. Berney is to invest $350 in a new brick warehouse on the northeast corner of Sarsfield street and Arkansas avenue.

A $3,000 brick dwelling will be erected on the southeast corner of Dollman street and Park avenue, by Mrs. E. A. How.

B. Sheridan will erect a shop and dwelling at a cost of $1,300, on the south side of Chouteau avenue, between Jefferson and Pratte avenues.

CITY PERSONALS.

Mr. James Hamilton, the business agent of The Favorites and Alice Oates Combination, is in town.

Mr. Jas. Morrissey leaves for Kansas City this evening. He is probably the very blandest man west of the Mississippi.

Mr. Frank Ring took in the Fair yesterday. He attired himself in a bell-crowned hat, and looked less like a Southern sympathizer than usual.

Mr. Frederick G. Cochran is now finding expression in the shape of leggins. He attires himself in the nobbiest boot-legs to be seen on the Exchange floor.

The rumor prevalent upon the streets yesterday afternoon that Emmet was dead probably referred to Robert Emmet, whose epitaph, we are informed, has not yet been written.

Capt. Wm. Lindsay Orr, Inspector Rifle Practice, Fifteenth Battalion, I. N. G., from Carrollton, Ill., and a former member of the old St. Louis Volunteer Fire Department, well known to the force as "Monkeywrench," visited this week in the city and took in the Fair.

Second District Police Court.

The docket this morning was very light, only nineteen cases appearing. John McMahon and Joseph Lynch were both up for interfering with and resisting a police officer. Nolle pros'd. John Malone increased the fund $10 for carrying concealed weapons. Thomas Shannon added $10 more to it for trespassing. Matt. Duford, Wm. Wand, Edward Harty and Martin McCan were each fined $10 for disturbing the peace. Wm. F. True and Ellen Kenney were each assessed $1 for disturbing the peace. Michael Dolan was charged $15 for frequenting disreputable houses. Jack Conners was fined $5 for vagrancy; execution stayed.

THE NEBRASKA TRADE.

Meeting of Merchants on 'Change—Address by the Mayor of Omaha.

Mr. Champion S. Chase, Mayor of Omaha for the last six years, is in the city in the interest of the trade of Nebraska. He desires, as do the business men of Omaha, to have more intimate business connections between St. Louis and Omaha. The Nebraska trade has hitherto gone chiefly to Chicago for the lack of an air line to St. Louis, but since the completion of the Omaha extension of the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Railway there is no reason why this trade should not flow to St. Louis: indeed it rightly belongs to St. Louis. It is now only a fifteen or seventeen hours' ride from St. Louis to Omaha. Mayor Chase has come to the city for the direct purpose of working up the merchants to the possibilities of the Nebraska trade. In order to do this most effectually a call was made by President Smith, of the Merchants' Exchange, for a meeting of all interested in the reading room, at 1 p. m. today, to give Mayor Chase an opportunity to present his views. Members of the Exchange were generally invited, but, as many were anxious to go to the Fair, the meeting was rather slim. Mr. Chase in an informal way talked of Omaha, and gave statistics of her trade. Omaha, he said, had now 30,000 population. Nebraska is the third grain State in the Union, and this grain can all be brought to St. Louis by a proper effort on the part of her citizens. He spoke of a barge line from Omaha to St. Louis and other possible projects. He thought Jay Gould was interested in St. Louis and the water route via the Mississippi. He said that twelve years ago he came to St. Louis on precisely the same errand that he was now engaged in. He addressed the Merchants' Exchange then, and finally took a party of seventy-five merchants up to Omaha and all over Nebraska. They saw the possibilities of the State and returned home much pleased. His effort then was to secure the building of an air line to St. Louis. Now that line was built, and he wanted to wake up the merchants to come up to Omaha and grasp the immense trade there.

Mr. Smith made reply to Mayor Chase explaining that the merchants here were not altogether neglecting Nebraska trade. They had done a good deal of late in that direction and were preparing to do more. Grain was now coming here from Nebraska. He thought by degrees, as was possible, St. Louis would reach out and secure her share of Nebraska trade. He had no confidence that a barge line would ever be successful on the Missouri River.

Mr. George Bain differed with Mr. Smith about the barge line, but coincided with all that had been said about general trade with Nebraska. After some general and desultory conversation on trade topics the meeting broke up with the best of feeling prevailing on both sides. Mayor Chase will remain over in St. Louis for a few days, and will have individual talks with prominent merchants on his pet subject—the union of St. Louis and Omaha.

The Dead Fireman's Fund.

The subscription started yesterday by Fire Company No. 15 for the relief of the family of the late George Dauber, the pompierman who died from injuries received at the Scarritt fire, is receiving material additions to-day. About $300 was raised yesterday, and up to 1 p. m. to-day $110 more had been secured. The subscriptions run from twenty-five cents to $10. Mrs. Dauber is totally without means of subsistence and has three children. The fund will probably reach $600. In addition Mr. Waldauer has tendered a benefit concert to take place next Thursday night at the Mercantile Library. Mr. Sexton, on behalf of the Fire Department, accepted the offer of Mr. Wauldauer this morning, on condition that the members of the Department be not called on to sell tickets for the concert. Mr. Waldauer will be assisted by Miss Flora Pike and other leading amateur singers and musicians.

The Ebbing Throng.

The attractions of the Fair seem to have depopulated St. Louis to-day. Not alone are there few of the usual faces upon the streets, but the strangers who have been enlivening the town for the past week appear to have rendezvoused at the Fair and to have deserted the lower parts of town. The Veiled Prophet's flags still blossom upon every side, but they have a wilted and withered look and the burgh will look much the better when the blue and yellow and red have been doffed. The rush is beginning to abate. The sea of people reached flood tide and is now ebbing, no better proof of which can be given than the fact that the hotels are beginning to send home the hired cots.

MONEY.

With almost two days' business rolled into one, it is not to be wondered if the banks were extremely busy to-day. The usual transactions were heavy, with two days' mail received, and counter checking and deposits showed up largely. Discounting was active, the regular demand being largely increased, so that the supply of money in bankers' hands moved freely. The demand was readily met, but only at steady rates—time loans 8 per cent and call 5@6 per cent. New York exchange sold at 75c discount per $1,000.

Robert E. M. Bain, Foreign Exchange, 104 N. Third street, reports: October 6.—Prime bankers' sterling, 481@483½; commercial 60-days, sterling, 478¾@479½; do demand sterling 481½@482; do 60-days francs, 528¾@527½; do demand, do, 527½@525⅝; do 60-days reichs marks, 93⅛@93¼; do demand 93⅝@93¾, do 60-days guilders and florins, 39⅛@39⅞. On 'Change.

Beerbohm quotes spot wheat 1d per cental higher; cargoes about 6d per quarter higher. Heavy rains in England.

A private cable from London states that the English crops will be below the average and is generally in poor condition. Market advancing and offerings light.

Owing to heavy receipts and small shipments of grain at Toledo the elevators of that city are taxed to their utmost capacity, besides which the railroad tracks are blocked with loaded cars. To meet this difficulty, and, if possible, check the receipts or compel shipments, the Toledo elevators have given notice that on and after the 15th inst. the storage rate will be ½c per bushel for each ten days or fractional part thereof, instead of ½c as heretofore.

A late circular of a reliable grain house in Liverpool is of the opinion that the first threshings of wheat in England and on the continent show that the United States must be chiefly looked to for the season's supply, Russia herself being dependent. If this is so it means that the demand will ensure fair prices for the farmer, notwithstanding this year's product is so large. Yet it must be remembered that, although European countries will require a large amount of wheat, those countries have increased supplies of home-grown wheat, and they cannot be starved into paying extreme prices. Our own farmers were never better prepared to carry their stock, and thus force at least good figures from the consumer, but to run prices up too high will most probably end in causing the farmer to carry a heavy amount into next season.

MORNING BOARD.

Flour—Stronger. Demand good for about all grades and sales at full 5c advance, with some sellers asking still higher. We quote: Fancy, $5 25@5 60; choice, $4 05@5; family, $4 60@4 75; xxx, $4 25@5 50. xx, $3 65@3 85; x, $3 25@3 40; superfine, $2 90@3 05; fine, $2 50@2 75.

Wheat—Higher and strong; European advices, together with most encouraging advices from all the home markets, caused a stiff and sharp advance, accompanied by an excited market, the tendency being upwards almost from the very opening and a large advance established by the close. Millers were ready and free purchasers of cash grades, besides which No. 2 red was taken by speculators, No. 3 on orders and No. 4 by Eastern shippers. Sales were at 96¼ to 97¼ for No. 3 red, 93@93¼ for No. 3 red, 88¾@88½ for No. 4, 95c for No. 2 Mediterranean and 91½ for No. 3 do. Futures were strongly excited and heavily traded in, closing firm at about 2c advance upon Wednesday; October sold at 96⅛@97½; November at 98@99¾; December at 99½@$1 01½, year at 96⅛@97. The initial trade in January (under the new grades, half grade lower than present standard) were made at 99 and later $1 00½ was paid.

Corn—A dull market and weak tone prevailed early, with more sellers than buyers and former willing to let go at a decline; later the feeling improved in sympathy with wheat, and, though closing generally lower than Wednesday, was firm and better than at the opening. No. 2 mixed sold mainly to speculators, some little on export account, at 38½; rejected taken on orders at 37½; No. 2 white mixed offered at 43c, bid 42c. Futures were dull, except May, which was in demand and stronger, selling at 43⅝@43¾; October brought 38⅛@38⅜ and December 38¼. November salable at 38⅞ and the year at 38.

Oats—A strong feeling was observable, with an advance in price. Cash No. 2 29⅜ to 29⅝, with ready sellers early at the top rate, but later that was bid for fresh without getting any. The only trades in futures were of December at 30⅝@31, and of May at 34. October had buyers at 29¼, November at 30, and the year at 29⅛. Rejected salable at 28½, but held higher.

Rye—Firm and in demand on orders at 84; rejected held at 80.

Provisions—Except lard, which was stronger with buyers at 8⅛ and 8¼ asked, the market dull, weak and tending downward. Pork jobbed at $16@$15 85, but a straight lot of standard, suitable for delivery on future contract, could not be bought under $18. Sales of dry salt meats were made at 5c for shoulders, 7.80c for clear ribs and 8.10c for short clear. Bacon was not worth over 5¾ for shoulders, 8¾c for clear ribs and 8.90@9c for short clear.

The Cotton Market.

Although the Cotton Exchange was open the attendance was light, most of the members attending the Fair, where premiums were being awarded on cotton. No call board was held during the day. The spot market was steady, with a fair amount of sales, 625 bales changing hands. New York steady at 1-16c decline from Wednesday, but 1-16c better than yesterday. Liverpool also steady.

CATTLE—Grass Texan cattle of medium to fair quality were selling cheap this morning. The supply was large, and sellers had to accept low prices in order to work off their stock. Dave Thompson, a Chicago canner, was the largest purchaser, paying from $2@2 60 per 100 lbs for Texans of 700 to 925 lbs. Mixed native butchers' stuff in fair supply and slow of disposal. Local speculators and butchers did not take many, consequently the market dragged at best. Eastern shippers and exporters were on hand and wanted good fancy native steers, which could not be had, as there were none offered. Reports from New York and other points were a little better; stock and feeding steers slow and unchanged. Milch cows with calves in fair supply and demand. Yesterday afternoon there was but little doing. Ruling quotations quiet.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING.

WABASH, ST. LOUIS & PACIFIC RAILWAY CO., }
ST. LOUIS, MO., September 17, 1880. }

A SPECIAL meeting of the stockholders of this company will be held at the office of the company at St. Louis, Mo., on Saturday, November 20, 1880, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., to act upon the following agreements made by the Board of Directors of said company.

An agreement to issue the bonds of this company to the amount of sixteen hundred thousand dollars, dated December 1, A. D. 1880, payable thirty years after date with interest at 6 per cent, payable semi-annually, and secured by mortgage upon the railroad formerly belonging to the Champaign, Havana and Western Railway Company, as required by the terms of consolidation with said company.

An agreement with the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway Company, whereby this company accepts a lease in perpetuity of the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway, and covenants to issue in payment therefor the six per cent bonds of this Company heretofore authorized and secured by its present General Mortgage, or other bonds of this Company of like tenor and effect, secured by mortgage on the said Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway, to an amount not exceeding two millions, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and also to issue, partly in further payment for said lease and partly in exchange for the stock of said Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway Company, the common and preferred stock of this Company to the extent of not exceeding seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars each, being an increase of the Capital Stock of this Company to that extent.

An agreement with the Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska Railroad Company, providing for the construction of the railway of said company from the present terminus of the railway of the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railway Company, at Centreville, Iowa, westward to the Missouri River, the lease thereof to this company in perpetuity of said railway; and the payment therefore by this company in 6 per cent bonds of this company, now issued and secured by its general mortgage, or in other bonds of like tenor and effect, secured by mortgage on the railroad of said Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska Railroad Company.

The said agreement provides also for the exchange of the capital stock of the Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska Railroad Company for the capital stock of this company, upon terms therein defined, being an increase of the preferred and common stock of this company to an amount not exceeding seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars each.

An agreement with the Attica, Covington and Southern Railway Company of Indiana, for the construction of the railway of that company for the lease of the same in perpetuity to this company.

An agreement for the construction of an extension of the railway formerly owned by the Champaign, Havana and Western Railway Company from Havana, Illinois, to Quincy, Illinois, and payment for the same by the issue of bonds of this company secured by its general mortgage, to an amount not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars per mile of such constructed road.

An agreement between this company and the Great Western Railway Company of Canada, for carrying the traffic of this company over the railway of that company during a term of years, upon terms therein defined.

An agreement between this company, the New York, Lackawanna and Western, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, securing to this company certain rights of traffic over the railroads of the two companies last named.

An agreement between this company and the Chicago and Western Indiana Railroad Company, providing for the lease by that company to this company of certain terminal facilities in the city of Chicago, and the guarantee by this company of the bonds of that company, bearing interest equal to the rental named in said agreement.

An agreement for the construction of a branch of the Chicago Division of the Railway of this company, commencing at a point near the intersection of the Mazon River with said railway, and extending westward through the Braidwood coal region to a connection with the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw Railway at Washington, Illinois. The construction of such branch railroad to be paid for in bonds secured by the general mortgage of this company, to an amount not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars per mile.

An agreement with the "Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific R'y Co. of Nebraska," for the construction of the railroad of said Company in Nebraska and the transfer of said railroad to this Company by lease or consolidation, as the Stockholders of this Company may determine.

THE St. Louis Fair is a monumental success. Like the POST-DISPATCH, its mission is to expand and beautify yearly.

THE virtuous old bilks of the Republican seem to have lost some of their passion for reforming the Democratic party of St. Louis.

IT is the opinion of Grant that Hancock "is crazy to be President." There is no gentleman in existence at this writing who can diagnose that disease better than Lys.

HAYES will probably stay out on the Pacific Coast until the November election and take the place of the late Morton as a manipulator of the returns. He ought to reciprocate.

ONLY about $2,500 of the Wickham-Crittenden campaign fund (so-called) has been accounted for. There is still some curiosity in the community, we take it, to know where that money went.

THERE is no longer any doubt about a Democratic victory in Indiana next Tuesday. The tide is setting the right way now, and the only question is whether the majority will be 5,000 or 10,000.

VAN HORN has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Eighth District, and unless the Democrats stop their foolishness about Crisp and Allen the veteran malignant may be able to inflict his presence upon the next Congress.

THE Greenback party of St. Louis is alert and with a full ticket in the field it will be a question as to how much damage it can inflict upon the old organizations. It is believed that there will be suffering along the line of the Democratic city ticket.

WHEN the census revealed a large increase in the population of South Carolina the Republican managers at once raised the cry of fraud. After a careful investigation they have decided that the returns were justified by the facts. Thus is the Palmetto State once more vindicated.

THE cable gravely announces that the Irish landlords are beginning to devote serious attention to the Land League. It was bound to come to this sooner or later; for it is a fact which has been long known in this country that one can induce any man to display earnest thought upon a subject by firing at him with a shotgun from behind a fence.

IT is really amusing to observe how the news from Indiana encourages the Republican managers in Washington—according to the dispatches sent out for political effect. The glee is unbounded in official circles, and yet, with a few changes, the news is precisely of the kind that created so much hilarity in the same quarter for a week or two before the election in Maine.

JEFF DAVIS' proclamation branding Ben Butler as an outlaw and felon is almost as nice reading at this juncture as one of Lincoln's proclamations calling on those eminent Republicans Mosby, Longstreet and Judge Key to lay down their arms and cease their rebellious efforts to overthrow the Government of the United States. They constitute touching war reminiscences.

THE epizootic is slowly traveling West, and St. Louis equines will be sneezing before the first of next week. Unfortunately our horses are too busy at this season of the year to imitate Brother Beecher's example by climbing to the mountain tops for the relief of their fashionable hay fever. The patient ox may be brought into requisition in St. Louis again, and the careful farmer should prepare for the harvest.

ONE of the latest campaign stories is that money has been sent over from England to help the Democrats to elect Hancock. There may be some English money in circulation in Indiana, but unless the Cobden Free Trade Club of London is interesting itself in behalf of its honored member, Mr. Garfield, we doubt whether British gold can be said to be making itself felt in this canvass.

HANCOCK can hardly be called a silent man. For a wonder, he writes a great deal. For a still greater wonder, his writings are all full of wisdom, patriotism and sound sense. We always feel better when we hear that another of his old letters has been sent to the press. The General should purchase a type-writer and give himself up unreservedly to the luxury of composition. He seems to have conquered the epistolary art.

AT Toledo, O., a few nights ago the Hon. Carolus Schurz refused to speak in the same hall with Emory Storrs, the Chicago defender of whisky rings and advocate of Grantism. The committee in charge was forced to furnish the high-toned statesman with an extra hall. It must be hard for Schurz to pull harmoniously in the traces with Grant, Conkling, Logan and the old corruptionists who have made such bitter war upon him in times past, but it would seem that while he is lifting up his voice for the great Credit Mobilier statesman it is bad taste for him to decline association with a clammy little rascal like Storrs.

SOCIALISM.

The Socialists are beginning once more to move in Europe, and from almost every continental capital comes news of the fresh life and vigor of this peculiar outgrowth of our civilization. Socialism is a condition of the body politic whose diagnosis can be made with as much exactness as typhoid fever. When taxation is light and work is easy to get, there is very little of it in a country. When taxes are heavy and work is scarce Socialism is prevalent. In fact, the amount of these peculiar doctrines in a land forms an excellent sociological barometer of its condition. A general congress of the Red party from the whole world has been called to meet at Zurich in 1881 to take counsel together on the needs of the order. In Switzerland the Socialists have always had their headquarters; their propaganda has been at Geneva for years and it is only proper that they should assemble in the little Republic, the only place in Europe where the authorities will give them rest for the soles of their feet. Wrong-headed as their ideas mostly are, and full of phantoms and hopeless radicalism, the Socialistic party in Europe deserves a certain moral support and endorsement from happy America as the only movement in the right direction toward the ultimate dethroning of all kings and breaking down of all aristocracies. The people of Europe are knit together by the international society in a web which their hereditary rulers have never understood. The old red-shirt of Caprera has more love for humanity in his heart—has sacrificed more for the brotherhood of man—than all the apostles of law and order, than all the upholders of vested rights since the world began. Here in America we can appreciate clearly the fact that Socialism is apt to go too far; it is too radical. Could they have their way with Europe the Reds would need protection from themselves worse than they need it now from despotism. But there are other elements in Old World society which would certainly give stability to the mass. If the breaking down process were not carried too far—and it is questionable whether the resistance would not prevent its going too far—the United States of Europe would not be a political Utopia. Every one who knows the course of history knows that the time will come when Europe will be all republican. The embers of democracy are alive and glowing in every kingdom, waiting but the breath of the Liberator to call them into flame. Socialism has its uses now in preparing the people, in moulding the masses into a love of Freedom and Human Rights, two important things which neither Latin nor Teuton has yet fully grasped; but when this gospel has been preached and received by the serfs, the peasants and the toilers the mission of the Internationalists will have been accomplished. The excesses of the Reign of Terror have proved that these teachers are not the men to guide a revolution. It must be the sober second thought of Europe that will free the Old World and keep it free. The difference is the difference between Theory and Practice, and that difference the French and Swiss Republics have already learned.

A LOT of gentlemen interested in shipbuilding are holding a convention in Boston to see what can be done in the way of reviving an obsolete American industry. Under Republican legislation it has been rendered impossible to build a vessel in the United States capable of competing with foreign-built ships, and, as a consequence, American ship-yards have for fifteen years resembled graveyards. This is a case in which protection has protected entirely too much. Our beautiful tariff system makes the cost of a vessel constructed in our waters cost about twenty-five per cent more than it built on the Clyde, and American ship-building is classed among the lost arts. Our flag has no place upon the salted seas. Our merchant marine—the strong arm of the navy in the event of foreign war—no longer has existence. We no longer have a school for sailors, and, instead of growing rich from our commerce, we are actually paying out every year $100,000,000 to foreign ships for carrying our surplus products to the markets of the world. John Roach, the shipbuilder of the Delaware, who has kept up his business for years through Government favoritism in the way of contracts and subsidies, was in the convention yesterday clamoring for free ships. He was met by defenders of Protection who well understood that their pet theory was in danger, and that when Congress decreed that shipbuilding should be made free there were other things that the producing people of the West and South would ask to have placed upon the free schedule. In the interest of general prosperity it is to be hoped that the Boston convention will be able to impress Congress with the importance of removing the embargo from our ship-yards. It would do the American heart good to once more see the stars and stripes illuminating the breezy nooks and corners of the world. But we can't resist the opportunity to remark that when Protection reaches the point that it becomes Prohibition, its blessings are not always appreciable outside of the iron trade.

A CONTRIBUTOR very justly complains in another column about the inconvenient bob-tail cars on the Fourteenth street line. Under its charter the Lindell Company has no right to run cars without conductors. It is an outrage to compel passengers to act as their own collectors, but since this is done it would be no more than reciprocity for the managers to provide decent cars. The Fourteenth street cars are notoriously filthy and uncomfortable. The old cushions, in use for years, are suggestive of vermin and disease. This line carries more weary passengers than the Washington avenue line, though a portion of the quarter traversed may be lacking in aristocratic tone. Public sentiment forced two-horse cars and conductors on the Washington avenue line, and public sentiment can certainly force the company to at least furnish clean, healthful cane-seated cars on the blue line if it isn't powerful enough to compel a compliance with the law in the matter of conductors.

GRANT'S denial of the Fowler interview is not as full and explicit as it might be. He says in effect that the reverend gentleman, in his exuberance, put a few brass ornaments on his remarks, but he declines to point out the inaccuracies. We must conclude then that in his envious bitterness he did describe Gen. Hancock as a coldly selfish, weak, vain, ambitious man, susceptible to flattery and crazy to be President. The artist Rubens used to paint his fat mistress whenever he desired to typify beauty or womanly purity. Grant, with less imagination, is compelled to draw a picture of himself when he outlines a man whose elevation in his opinion involves danger to the Republic. If there is a man in this broad land who is vain, selfish, ambitious, fond of flattery and crazy for power, that man is Ulysses S. Grant, functus officio.

ANOTHER terrible onslaught has been made on Mr. English, the Democratic nominee for Vice-President. This time by the Cincinnati Gazette. It charges that way back in 1844 he collected a pension due to his grandmother, and belonging to her children, under fraudulent administration papers issued in Clark County, Ind. and kept the money, a considerable sum. When called upon to pay it over he pleaded insolvency, and his surety proved to be worthless. Horrors accumulate.

THAT North Carolina liar has come to a head in a fresh place. This time he seated a well-known gambler, Doc Jenkins by name, at an "old sledge" table in Charlotte. He filled the other chairs about the green cloth with wealthy sports and he poured a pool of gold upon the table with an affluent hand. Doc. Jenkins had one point to go—he was six—and held the ace, king, queen, jack, ten, nine, seven, six and deuce of trumps. Just as he was about slamming down the winning card the grim reaper sheared him off into eternity. He died suddenly, in other words. The talented North Carolina liar omits to mention what became of the stakes, but shuts right down on the narrative at the most interesting point. Probably his imagination gave out, but under the rule the "pot," unless grabbed for, would go to the next highest hand. When a gamester bursts a blood vessel in a fit of excitement consequent upon the prospect of making a big winning, his hand is held to be in effect "thrown up," and it has been decided that such unprofessional conduct leaves the player's heirs and assigns without any legal claim upon the stake. The folly of allowing a dead man's hand to decide an issue is apparent at a glance, and as there is no "jack pot" in seven-up the money on the table must pass to the surviving player having the most points. Of course everybody will sympathize with Mr. Jenkins in his great loss. With all this world's cruel vicissitudes it falls to the lot of but few of us to be snatched from life at the supreme moment of showing down an invincible hand at "old sledge" and with only one to go. If it were not for the fact that there probably never was such a man as Doc Jenkins in North Carolina, and that no such interesting game of cards has recently been played in that State, we would say that this incident contained a terrible lesson—one far beyond our capacity to impress.

THE Illinois hog product has always been of a peculiarly toothsome and appetizing nature. Sugar-cured hams and hickory-smoked bacon cut from the streaky sides of Sucker pork have always commanded the highest price and have always reeked upon the best appointed breakfast tables in the land. Everybody knew that Illinois excelled in pig, but nobody knew why. This morning a harrowing tale comes from Vandalia, where, in the corner of a cemetery, a little box was found which contained all that the hogs had left of an immature Sucker.

MR. JACOB BARR, a Mt. Gilead, Ohio, sawyer, was thrown accidentally upon a circular saw at his mill, yesterday. It all happened so quick that Mr. Barr didn't have time to express the surprise he must have felt when he observed himself being bisected into two equal and symmetrical parts. Look the whole world through and it would be difficult to hit upon any given piece of human mechanism which can astonish a man more, in less time, than a circular saw.

La Republique Francaise hints that the Sultan is crazy. We should not be at all surprised if this surmise was confirmed. Any man who has to deal with such questions as the Dulcigno difficulty and the Greek frontier naturally would become more or less demented in time. We first thought that he was showing the mental strain he was enduring when he issued a number of Hatts to a people who wear nothing but turbans.

WITHIN the period of two years the local circulation of the POST-DISPATCH has been built up to a point greater than that attained by the Missouri Republican, and the M. R. claims to have commenced business in 1808. At the present ratio our circulation will be 920,000 on our seventy-second birthday—the alleged age of the Republican.

HAMZEH AGHA, the Persian Kurd, is now at the head of an army of freebooters numbering 150,000, all armed with Henry rifles. They are now plundering Tauris. If old Hamzy can get Kurds enough he will find a whey to acquire the cream of what is going.

LITERARY ARCHIBALD JOHNSON, No. 25 East Thirteenth street, auctioneer and author of "Baby Mine," burglared by tramps. Out of the "Baby Mine" Mr. J. has dug over $7,000. —[New York Graphic.

It is gratifying to know that the lode is now thoroughly exhausted.

IT is noticeable that no flag which looks like the rebel flag appears in a Republican procession.—[New York Tribune.

It is noticeable, also, that there are no Democratic liars who can compete with Republican liars this year.

DAYTON, Ohio, is getting rid of its tramps by running locomotives over them. There are points about this method of solving the tramp-problem which commends it to every thoughtful community having tramps and engines.

A THREE-YEAR-OLD Hoosier tumbled into a swill-barrel and was drowned yesterday at Rochester. This proves that there may be too much of a good thing, and that the barrel is in Indiana.

WHEN the Louisville Courier-Journal desires to speak of the "lost cause" it refers to it as "the obsolete misfortune." This is real tender and delicate.

Millionaires at the Front.

From the New York Sun.

The spectacle now publicly presented to the country of a powerful combination of wealthy men in the great cities, formed for the sole purpose of carrying the pending elections by the free use of money, is well calculated to give pause to all controversy in the contemplation of a most serious danger to our institutions. In less than a hundred years since the organization of the Government, corruption is openly proclaimed as the last resource of a condemned party to retain possession of power.

Before the civil war, the ordinary cost of running a Presidential campaign did not much exceed twenty-five thousand dollars, and much of this sum was expended by the National Committees for printing and other regular work. Now there are many individuals who contribute more than that sum to advance what they believe to be their personal interests through success of the party.

The prodigality, corruption and excesses of Republican rule required the managers to make large expenditures in order to preserve their ascendancy in Congress. That system formed the leverage of the great rings, the chiefs of which furnished money to elect Senators and Representatives, every dollar of which was stolen from the Treasury, and became an additional tax on the plundered people. Year after year the Republican party declined in popular favor, and a great majority of the country, North and South, elected Mr. Tilden President in 1876. He was cheated out of his legal rights. That wrong was borne with patience, rather than imperil the peace of the Union in a conflict with armed conspirators, who wanted a pretext for civil war and the creation of a military despotism on the ruins of the republic.

Now, on the eve of another Presidential contest, when all the signs point to the election of a Union patriot, without spot or blemish on his escutcheon, the Republican leaders, driven to desperation and without the ability to repeat the former fraud, propose to defeat the people's choice by making a huge pool and putting up millions to buy votes.

Baroness Coutts and the Actor Irving.

Olive Logan's London Letter.

The cynosure of neighboring eyes at Henry Irving's first night of "The Corsican Brothers" was the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who occupied her roomy box in company with Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, two other gentlemen and a lady. The engaged couple sat side by side and seemed perfectly absorbed in each other. During the entr'actes tea was served the party in the box, and Mr. Bartlett's gallantry in waiting upon his fiancee was very pretty to see. You know he claims to be deeply in love with her, infatuated, in fact, as any normal lover might be. I say a normal lover, but I really mean that it is the sweetheart who is scarcely normal in this case. She is a sweet-looking, elderly, thin, proper mannered old lady, whose marriage with this healthy, lusty, bouncing boy, young enough to be her grandson, seems a preposterous matter. Their intense interest in and friendship for Irving was evinced from the rising of the curtain until its final fall. They applauded with all their might, and when Irving made one of his humorous little speeches after the play was over they laughed the laugh of delighted friends, enchanted at their gifted friend's success. To the initiated the Baroness' standing in Irving's theater is very palpable. Her footman is allowed to advance up a flight of steps and to penetrate an interior waiting lobby, while the footmen of everybody else are obliged to stand just inside the street door in a serried rank, peering over each other's shoulders in the effort to catch a glimpse of the advancing master and mistress. I hear it rumored in some quarters that Mr. Bartlett is to be punished for his temerity in marrying the richest woman of the age by being cut. Cut by whom? The Baroness' entourage are bound to respect him, or if not they must cease to be the Baroness' entourage. You should have seen the respect with which every one bowed to him who came into the box to pay their devoirs to her ladyship! And she footman touched his hat to the young American to announce that the carriage was waiting in a manner which showed plainly enough he considered him to be the master.

The New Russian Minister.

From the New York Tribune, 6th.

Mr. Bartholomai, Actual State Counselor and Imperial Chamberlain of the Russian Court, arrived in this city yesterday on board the Minister Talbot. He was recently appointed to Washington in the place of Mr. Shishkin, who has held that post for a number of years.

A Tribune reporter called upon him at the Clarendon Hotel yesterday.

"If all I said was not going to be published," the Minister said pleasantly, "I could perhaps tell you much that is interesting; but as it is, and considering my position, I must be cautious. However, I will say that the situation has greatly improved in Russia. Despite the assertions of a portion of the European press Loris Melikoff's nationality has been no impediment to the success of his enterprise. Jealousies will naturally exist in all phases of life, and he may have suffered from them to a limited extent; but he is nevertheless a very popular man—liked and respected by all classes. As far as the Nihilistic movement is concerned, in my opinion the worst is over, and Russia may now look forward to better days. However, this does not mean that a renewal of the past incidents is out of question; another outbreak may occur, but it will only be momentary and isolated."

Mr. Bartholomai has brought his wife with him. She is an English lady of good family, and has been married before. Mr. Veletzky, the Russian Consul-General in New York, and Mr. Villamot, the First Secretary of the Russian Legation at Washington, and several other persons met the new Minister upon his arrival.

A Public Benefactor.

From the Chicago Tribune.

We are glad to learn that Prof. Harrington, of Ann Arbor, has discovered a new star, as it affords the enterprising young men of this country a chance to engage more extensively in the popular scientific pastime of pointing out the heavenly bodies to the being they adore, kissing her once for every star. It has long been held by young people of both sexes that the supply of stars was wholly inadequate, and the discovery of an additional one, thereby enlarging the already generous opportunities for osculation, is a matter of congratulation to all who are really interested in the welfare of the rising generation.

Going for Sugar.

From the New York Sun.

The Chilians, under Pat Lynch, whose name has a fine Spanish-American flavor, have occupied Chimbote, and have gone quietly to work shipping large quantities of sugar from the haciendas up the valley. It is rather a mark of hard sense on the part of the Chilians that, having spent some years in getting glory out of their war, they are now going in for the sugar.

A Political Stand-Off.

From the N. Y. Sun.

The Brooklyn infant who was baptized in a Methodist church on Sunday as Garfield Hancock is perhaps supposed to bear the name of the next President. But why not have made a humorous thing by adding Weaver?

Sweet Communion.

From the Chicago Times.

There has been sweet communion at Mentor between Garfield and Blaine, the former going forth to Painesville to meet him on the way. Mr. Blaine is now talking nothing but high tariff.

Destroyers of Public Credit.

From the Courier-Journal.

The Republicans are making an active warfare on the public credit, by seeking to depreciate Government bonds. The game is a wicked and desperate one, but it will not win.

Grant's Clerical Confessor.

From the Chicago Times.

The Rev. Mr. Befowler may as well retire from the political field. It is overfull, just now, of fellows like him, who can beat Truth by a large majority.

A Convert to Paganism.

ST. LOUIS, October 8, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am from the country. Everybody tells me you are the people's paper. I have a grievance of which I wish to speak to you. I was at the Fair on Thursday, with a friend of mine, also from the country. We were hungry about noon, and cast about for something to eat. Many booths offered us food, but we declined, as we saw them selling whisky and beer, articles to the sale of which we are opposed. We soon saw over a booth a sign as follows: "North Presbyterian Church." We were invited in. We went. Being Christians, or at least trying to be, we, of course, expected to be treated in a Christian-like manner. The man at the door cried loudly at least twenty times every five minutes: "Plenty of room inside." We waited fifteen minutes before we could get a seat. We then waited thirty-eight minutes before we got anything to eat. Then a lady brought us some bread and some cold ham, and that was all. We started away hungry, and paid $1 50 at the door for what we had eaten. Overcoming our scruples outside, we went to a lager beer booth and got for twenty cents plenty to satisfy our hunger in ten minutes' time.

What we want to know is, are the ones who don't claim to be Christians really better Christians than those who blow their trumpet before them. Respectfully,

Perambulating Pest-Houses.

ST. LOUIS, October 7, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am one who, for my sins, am compelled to make use of the locomotive lazarettos to which the Lindell Railway Company condemns its Fourteenth street and Chouteau avenue customers. Why these dirty, foul and noisome cars should be foisted upon the people who have the misfortune to live upon this line is a question which only the economical Solons who control the road can answer. In the first place they break their charter in compelling the passengers to act as their own conductors, but that is not the main objection. The cars are provided with stuffy old carpet seats, which have been in use so long that they are shiny and greasy and pellucious to the last possible degree. Occasionally the outside of a car is painted, but the oldest customer can not recollect a case wherein the inside has been even washed. The stuffy, typhus-charged hay upon the floor has mouldered and rotted away into a fine, impalpable dust, which gets into one's air passages and diverts the mind from the squalor of the car for a time. Something will have to be done by the company if it wishes to preserve its business. Of course, the same line can take excellent care of its Washington avenue aristocracy; but, apparently, Chouteau avenue and Fourteenth street nickels, although in a monetary sense just as valuable, are not worth good cars and a well-appointed railway.

TO-MORROW'S MATCH.

Great Contest Between Bogardus and Haworth.

Details of the Great Shooting Event for the American Championship.

The all-absorbing topic of conversation among the members of both the St. Louis Gun and the Sportsmen's Club for the past week has been the match for the championship of the United States between Captain W. B. Haworth of Quincy, Ill., and Capt. A. H. Bogardus, which will be shot to-morrow on the grounds of the latter organization on Grand avenue.

The city is at present full of sporting people, many of whom were drawn here to witness this "shoot," which they consider a great event in the annals of shooting. There is no doubt but that it will be one of the most important contests in the sporting records of the West. The greatest interest in it is being manifested, and betting upon the result is being largely indulged in. Both contestants are pretty close as far as the betting is concerned, but this morning several of the knowing ones predicted the defeat of Bogardus. They say that he has not shot under the rules laid down for the match to-morrow, and that he ought to have never accepted Haworth's challenge. His friends, however, appear confident that he will sustain his reputation as a marksman and come out of the contest covered with glory. After the match with Lucas and Price on Wednesday last the Captain left the city for Elkhart, Ill., but he will return to this city to-morrow morning.

The conditions of the match are as follows: Each man is to shoot at 100 wild pigeons, twenty-one yards rise, H and T plunge traps to be used. One barrel only will be allowed to be used. The stakes are $100 a side, and the match will be governed by Illinois State rules. The shooting will commence at 3:30 p. m. The field rules of the St. Louis Sportsmen's Club will be rigidly enforced, so that perfect order and immunity against accident will be insured. Capt. W. Judy, of the St. Louis Sportsmen's Club, and T. H. Burt, of the St. Louis Gun Club, have made all the arrangements for the match and will manage the shoot. Capt. Judy has already procured a fine lot of birds, and the indications are that the match will be a most interesting and exciting one. Pools will be sold on the grounds throughout the match. The reason that it is thought that Bogardus may lose the match is that for some years he has not shot according to American rules, but has been shooting under the English rules. Besides, he has not for some time shot at such a short rise as twenty-one yards, whereas Capt. Haworth is perfectly familiar and has had considerable experience at that distance.

CAPTAIN HAWORTH arrived in this city from Quincy, Ill., yesterday, and was found by a POST-DISPATCH reporter this morning. It will be remembered that the Captain lately defeated the celebrated shot Fred. Erb, making the wonderful score of 94 and 96 out of 100, the best ever recorded in a public match. Captain Haworth is a pleasant-speaking man of large physique, and he informed the writer that for a few weeks past he had been endeavoring to get up a match with Bogardus. He wished it to be distinctly understood that he was not a "professional," but was a business man, being the head of the firm of contractors and builders of Quincy, Ill., which was styled Haworth, Orr & Hodgdon. Whenever he shot he did so from a love of the sport, and if he made his expenses, all well and good. He had defeated Erb twice and he felt confident that he could now defeat Bogardus. He was going to do his level best in that direction any way. For thirty days with one exception he had not looked at his gun, prior to his last match with Erb. "I take old Betsy [his gun] after our monthly shoots at home and throw her into a closet without even cleaning her out and never set eyes on the weapon again for a month," said the genial Captain. "I have the old girl with me now and know that she won't go back on me."

Captain Bogardus, it is said, first learned to shoot under the same rules as those which will govern the match to-morrow. The Captain, who has hosts of friends in St. Louis, is a member of the Gun Club of this city, and at one time efficiently filled the position of President of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Club.

Protect Your Eyes.

Proper care of the eyes is a duty no person should neglect. As the sight begins to fail it is of the utmost importance to procure proper eye-glasses. A bad pair of spectacles will do incalculable injury, and a proper-fitting pair will greatly aid in prolonging the sight. It is, therefore, advisable to call and examine Prof. Hirschberg's Improved Diamond Spectacles and Eye-glasses, at 107 North Fourth street, under Planters' House.

THE HOTEL ROBBERY.

The Thief Still at Large—The Exact Loss—Later Details.

No clue has yet been obtained to the whereabouts of John Slater, the crooked porter who stole the contents of the Western House safe yesterday morning. The detectives say, as they always do, that they will catch him, but probably he has put a long distance between himself and St. Louis ere this, and will never be seen in these parts again. The amount stolen was $3,100 and this loss will fall entirely upon Mr. Irish, the proprietor of the Western House. Mr. Irish has been connected with the house as clerk and then as proprietor since September 1865. All he had in the world was in the safe and invested in the house, and this loss will nearly ruin him. He has already given a deed of trust for $1,700 on the furniture of the house to M. B. Curtis, the live stock man who had $1,700 in money in the safe. Mr. Curtis, who lives in Ohio, is a well-to-do man and can afford to wait for his money. He will not foreclose the deed of trust, but will let Mr. Irish remain and run the house until he can make enough to pay off the debt. The other losers by the robbery have been paid in part. It will be paid in full as early as possible. Slater had never been accused of stealing anything about the house before. He was known to be rather a hard case, and was therefore, never allowed an opportunity to get his hands upon any plunder. Mr. Irish has offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the thief.

ZELDA SEGUIN.

How the Contralto Fell in Love With Her Second Hub at First Sight.

Zelda and Dave's Brief Courtship and Matrimony—"Wasn't He Smart to Catch Me?"

The public will remember that the marriage of Zelda Seguin, the contralto prima donna of the Emma Abbott English Opera Troupe, occasioned considerable comment owing to the fact that her first husband, Mr. Edward Seguin, had only been dead for about four months and there was a general feeling that Mrs. Seguin had been a little precipitate. The New York Herald in its announcement of the wedding said that Zelda Seguin had put off her mourning weeds before Teddy was cold in his grave. The following interesting facts relative to the wedding were gleaned by a POST-DISPATCH representative in conversation with a gentleman intimately connected with all the parties. They have never been published before: Zelda Seguin met her present husband, Dave Wallace, in Indianapolis, where he was clerk in some railroad office. Mr. Wallace is about twenty-seven years of age, has no beard, but a plain face, and apparently there was nothing striking in his appearance. Mrs. Seguin was playing with Emma Abbott at Dickson's Theater, in the Hoosier capital. Wallace had a seat in one of the proscenium boxes. It was a case of love at first sight. Zelda noticed the man from the stage and glanced frequently at him. In the dressing room she said to Emma Abbott: "If ever I marry it will be that man," meaning Wallace, whom she had pointed out to the celebrated osculatory prima donna. At this time Zelda had not met the man. Wallace also was evidently smitten with Zelda's charms. He asked Dickson to introduce him to the dramatic contralto, and the obliging manager took Wallace behind the scenes, where the introduction was formally made. Zelda and Dave talked bashfully a minute or two and then, like a pair of young lovers, glided away from the others. When they reappeared with great glee. Evidently they were at once on a footing of intimacy. The Abbott troupe went from Indianapolis to Louisville, where Wallace followed. Dave had all the blushing ardor of youth, and at Louisville, although he had not been acquainted with Seguin for two weeks, he "popped" the question and Zelda accepted him delicately. From Louisville the Opera Company went to New York, and while at the Westminster Hotel, Wallace again turned up and he and Zelda again plighted their troth. The lovers separated after a few brief days of courtship. But the plan had been laid. Shortly afterwards Zelda announced that she was going to Baltimore to spend the summer with her friends, the Carringtons. She went. By a strange coincidence Dave Wallace also found himself at Baltimore. They met a third time, and the nuptial knot was tied. Zelda Seguin never made any pretense of concealing her affection for Wallace from the first moment. Jimmy Morrissey—handsome, mashing Jimmy—once asked her, "Why don't you marry him?" "Oh, I've got to be in mourning for a year," she answered. Insinuating Jimmie urged: "But, Zelda, it you love the man don't wait."

THEY TALKED AND CHATTED

"No, Jimmie," responded the contralto, resolutely, "I will have to wait a year." But, like all women, Zelda, saying She'd never consent, consented. On another occasion, when reference was made to her wedding, Seguin exclaimed: "Well, I've had thirteen years of misery without pleasure, and the rest of my life I am going to have pleasure."

The best thing Zelda ever said in connection with her marriage was when 'Gene Wetherell—Honest Little Emma's hubby—asked her why she married Dave; why she hadn't married a man who could do something for her—a smart man.

"Why, 'Gene," said the fair contralto demurely. "Well, don't you think he is pretty smart to get me?"

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Buffalo Bill crowded Pope's again last night. Alice Oates is underscored for next week at this theater.

J. K. Emmet's company played to another large house last night. Next Monday Thomas W. Keene, the tragedian, opens at the Grand Opera-house.

"All the Rage" was presented at the Olympic to a packed audience last night. Robson and Crane begin a one week's engagement at the Olympic next Sunday evening.

On the morning following the first appearance of Tom Keene, the tragedian, in Chicago, his kind-hearted compeer, John McCullough, playing in Chicago at the same time, sent the following characteristic and thoughtful note:

TREMONT HOUSE, CHICAGO, October 5.—MY DEAR TOM: I am delighted to hear and read of your success. You are a good fellow, and deserve all the best things in this world. Keep yourself well in hand, and be patient with your company until you get them in good working order. Don't get overexcited, and be sure to have your full rest, so you will be up to your work. God bless you, my dear boy. Yours always, JOHN MCCULLOUGH.

A case against Mathias Ulrich was continued until to-morrow.

A Rejoiced Bank President.

It was our pleasure to recently hear the following from a correspondent at the Galt House, Louisville, Ky. I am well acquainted with the President of a National Bank in Ohio, whose name is widely known throughout the State. He has been unable to do anything with himself for the past five years, and has paid out large sums of money for the cure of his complaint; nothing, however, affected him as did St. Jacobs Oil, which, he claims, has done him more good than all the medicines he ever used. His ailment was Rheumatism, and he suffered severely as stated.—Exchange.

THE NIGHT SCHOOLS.

They are to Opened Next Week—List of Teachers.

The night schools throughout the city will be opened on Monday evening next for the session of 1880-81. At 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon the principals of the various schools will meet in the School Board room to perfect arrangements for the opening. With the exception of the O'Fallon and Webster polytechnic schools, whose session will extend through five months, the others will be kept open for only four months. The following is a list of the appointments in the different schools: O'Fallon Polytechnic—B. F. Hedgers, principal; assistants, T. S. Smith, R. J. Delano, Henning W. Prentis and Elmer Leggett. Webster Polytechnic—J. W. Hall, principal; assistants, Fred Haid, Wm. C. Goodlet and Charles Kirchner. Webster evening—Isabel Andrews, Emerata S. Watson, Emma A. Meyers, J. H. Who Took It?

The great agony is over, the Fair awards have been made, and it is no longer a question of who has the handsomest parlor and bedroom furniture in St. Louis. There was a magnificent display of furniture made this year in Mechanical Hall, and when all the displays were so creditable and the goods so elegant, it is a matter of gratification to any firm to take the blue ribbon over all others. How can anyone be surprised, however, that this was done by Burrell, Comstock & Co. They are bound to do it every year. They might well be proud of this sweepstakes, as they had much to contend against. Let their country patrons make a note of it.

The Silver Cloud came out the other day with this cargo: 73 bales cotton, 19 hhds. tobacco, 12 bags wool, 26,500 feet lumber, 13 cords tan-bark, 16 head cattle, 50,000 shingles, 10 rolls leather, 13 bags peanuts, 24 pieces pine timber and lots of miscellaneous freight.

PITTSBURG, 6: Boats on slack water making regular trips. Dredgeboat Katie Williams tested and allowed 119 pounds steam. New towboat Charles Juttee received steel shaft. Allegheny River improvement: Two dams have been constructed this summer, one at Five-mile Island, the other at Nicholson's Rapids.

PITTSBURG Commercial Gazette: The towboat Fearless, of Gray's Iron Line, is off the dock, where she received a thorough overhauling. The Ironsides, of the same line, has also been overhauled, and is in first-class condition for the fall and winter campaign, and the new steamer Iron Duke, also of G. I. L., is completed, and will take out a tow on the first rise.

EVANSVILLE, 7: Capt. Brown expects the new steamer Clyde to be ready for business by November 1. She will be a beauty. Capt Joe Dunlap, of Pittsburk, superintendent of Gray's Iron Line, comprising the Iron Duke, Iron Age, Ironsides and Fearless, arrived in the city last night. He is in splendid health, and left for the West last night, prospecting. The Dora Cabler and Dick Johnson were unable to cross Puppy Creek bar, and the Cabler returned to Owensboro to put off her freight and try it over. The Dick Johnson came down and grounded on "Three-mile."

NEW ORLEANS Democrat, 6: The John W. Cannon reports the Whisper hard aground at the Kiliona plantation, thirty-three miles above here. The Cannon made four efforts to pull her off without success. An instance that occurred on the Whisper last trip in connection with the cabin boys' strike shows that they are well organized. Without warning they left the boat just before backing out, all except the two porters and the barber. Underway these three personages refused to wait on the table, and some ($2 a day) roustabouts were substituted. At Donaldsonville a part of a crew were shipped, who on arrival here had thirty-five cents coming to them for half a day's work. They asked for their money, received it, and "joined" the strikers. Just before the boat left they returned and bought deck tickets home, with money evidently furnished by the strikers, for the tickets were a dollar each. This transaction was so plain on its face that the officers of the Whisper succumbed to the inevitable and engaged half a crew at the advanced rate, which is two-thirds more than they formerly received. Capt. J. W. Tobin telegraphed that the J. M. White had 1,700 bales and 3,500 sacks when she left Vicksburg.

ADIEU.

These years are over, these few glad years blending
The sweets of loving with love's long good-byes:
A Dieu, a pleasant word, at last commending
To God's good keeping what we may not keep—
To that great love which we have held unending
Our wandering brothers and dear hearts that sleep.

The last word whispered and the hand extending,
The last smile broken into tearful sighs,
The tears that live in many memories
And love's last gift, and love is past our mending;
While slowly, slowly from the straining eyes
They all pass out into the great wide deep.
So at the end our love surrenders you
To God's good keeping for a while—adieu.

JAMES BROWN'S FORTUNE.

The News of Which Caused Seven Women to Seek Him.

From the New York Sun, 5th.

A few days ago a hod carrier named James Brown, working at the Tome mills in Centreville, N. J., received a letter, bordered in black, just as he was ascending a ladder with a hod of mortar. Upon opening the letter he learned that he had fallen heir to $54,000 through the death of his father. He informed his companions of his good fortune; but, to their surprise, did not quit work, and was promptly on hand the next morning.

"Why, Brown," said the overseer, "aint you going to knock off?"

"Of course not," said he. "Why should I?"

"Well, but with such a nice little fortune"—

"Pooh! pooh! man," Brown interrupted. "If you had lost $150,000 in one day as I have done, you wouldn't be upset by a little matter of this kind."

Then he shouldered his hod and went to work, and so a reporter for the Sun found him yesterday carrying bricks to the roof of a four-story factory in company with fifty other hard-working men. He is a fine, athletic-looking man, about 40 years of age, with a good-humored expression, regular features, ornamented with closely-trimmed side whiskers. His muscular arms, bared to the elbow, are tanned and battered.

"Mr. Brown," said the reporter, "do you object to telling how you lost $150,000 in a single day?"

"Not at all, sir," he replied. "I was born in New York, and lived there nearly all my life. My relatives in that city are all wealthy. I was myself worth $300,000 at one time. I was a broker in Wall and Broad streets for nearly ten years, but my fortune gradually dwindled away in risky speculations until only $150,000 was left. Every cent of that went in one day in the panic of '73. Oil did it. Well, my friends secured a clerkship for me, and I worked hard for a year or two, till I accumulated a little money, and then I'd lose it again in stocks. I was in a constant state of feverish excitement, my health ran down, and I finally gave every cent I had away and went to work as a bricklayer and hod carrier. I have gained forty-six pounds since I began, and I am contented and happy."

"Of course you'll quit this sort of thing now?"

"By no means. If I go back on the street I'll lose what little money I have and shatter my health. Besides——"

Here the dialogue was interrupted by a mason leaning out of a half-finished window, yelling, "Hay, Brown? I'm blessed if here ain't another."

"No!" said Brown, with a smile.

"Sure as you're born," was the reply. And then the windows were black with the heads of masons and bricklayers, all looking in one direction. The reporter followed their example and saw a woman of a stylish appearance coming over the road and making a bee line for Mr. Brown. She walked directly up to the reporter and said: "Where's Mr. Brown?"

"Here he is, madam"—but on turning around, no Mr. Brown was to be found. He had disappeared at her approach. She tapped the ground with her parasol and said it was very provoking. The reporter asked why, and she said she had heard of Brown's good luck, and as he would probably start an establishment she had come to offer her services. She had been a capable housekeeper in an English family for fifteen years, and she was sure she would suit Mr. Brown. Would the reporter look for him? Of course he would; and behind the engine-house he found Brown, making a line on a board beside six other lines, while an admiring crowd stood around.

"Do you mean to say that this is the seventh woman who has been here?" inquired the reporter.

"I assure, you, sir, I have been called upon by seven women, all of whom were total strangers to me, to-day, and I can prove it by these men."

"And you don't want a capable English housekeeper?"

"I do not."

Just then the woman came around the corner, and Brown couldn't get out of sight. He didn't make an engagement, however; so the applicant was obliged to return to the city again.

The station-master confirmed the story that seven different women had called to see the fortunate bricklayer in one day; but they had all been disappointed.

A Girl Monk.

From the London Telegraph.

Matrena Ivanovna, a Russian peasant girl of two-and-twenty, has recently acquired considerable notoriety in her native land through the fact that, under the monastic designation of "Father Michael," she succeeded in passing several months in the cloister of Staraja Ladoga, without incurring the least suspicion on the part of her fellow monks that she was other than the seemed to be. Forced by her father to marry a person whom she detested, she disappeared from her home on the day succeeding her wedding, and, upon search being made, her clothes and two long plaits of her "back hair" were found near the Wolchoff River, as well as a letter in her handwriting stating that, rather than live with her husband, she had resolved to drown herself. Her relatives, believing that she had really committed suicide, forbore any further inquiry, and mourned for her as one dead. She, however, dressed in man's clothing, applied last March for admission to the above named monastery, and was duly received into the confraternity on probation, taking the minor vows, and officiating as coachman to the Prior. There is no knowing to what ecclesiastical dignities she might not in time have risen, had not unkind fortune decreed that a native of her own village should have been sent to Staraja Ladoga by his master for correction at the hands of the brethren, his offense being inveterate drunkenness. Promptly recognized and denounced by this indiscreet toper as Matrena Ivanovna, a friend of his youth, "Father Michael" was handed over to the police authorities by the indignant monks, and is now awaiting trial for imposture upon a religious community—a crime likely to be visited with severe punishment in so priest-ridden a country as Russia.

A Historic Town.

From the New York Times.

One of the most anomalous, as well as one of the oldest towns in the republic is Marblehead, which is often visited from mere curiosity. It is losing its distinctiveness year by year, yielding to the rapidly growing homogeneity of modern civilization. Its position, on a rocky, irregular peninsula, projecting into Massachusetts Bay, is striking and picturesque. Noted from the earliest settlement of New England—it was originally a part of Salem—for the enterprise of its inhabitants in the fisheries, these have been largely relinquished of late years for the more prosaic occupation of making boots and shoes. Many of the first settlers were from Guernsey, Jersey and other channel islands, and for a long while their peculiarities of speech almost constituted a dialect. This has greatly diminished with generations, but it is still so observable that Bostonians and New Yorkers who go there refer to the natives often as semi-civilized. They are, and always have been, a strong and sterling race, conspicuous for their independence and combativeness. The town contributed 1,000 men to the Revolutionary army, and at the close of the struggle there were 600 widows and 1,000 fatherless children in a population falling below 4,000. The historic frigate Constitution was chiefly manned during the war of 1812 with Marbleheaders, who also fitted out a great many privateers. At the declaration of peace nearly 500 of its citizens were held in England as prisoners of war. When the rebellion had broken out there were more volunteers for the Union cause, it is said, than from any place of its size in the entire North. A century or so since it was the second town in the State as to population and wealth, and to-day it is only a insignificant village of the old Commonwealth.

A BIG OPERATION.

Casting of a Trip-Hammer Weighing 160 Tons.

Pittsburg Special to Chicago Times.

The heaviest casting ever attempted in the United States was made at the Black Diamond Steel Works of Messrs. Park Bros. & Co. to-day. It was an anvil block weighing 160 tons. The preparations consumed several months of labor, and were of the most elaborate kind. These consisted of the building of five cupola furnaces sixty feet high and eight feet in diameter, lined with fire-brick, and the vital breath of which to fuse the metal was furnished by five Sturtevant blowers. These blowers revolved at the rate of 2,000 revolutions per minute, giving a pressure of twelve ounces per square inch, and drove about 6,000 cubic feet of air into each furnace per minute, each pipe giving a total of about 255 pounds of pressure. A channel runs facing the cupolas, into which the metal was tapped, and gathered into two troughs or fountains, whence it is run into the huge mold; this latter, built up on heavy oak foundation timbers by means of bricks girded by heavy iron bands. The inside dimensions of the mold were, of course, the exact size of the desired block of iron, its bottom dimensisons being eleven feet by eight and ten feet thick. The greatest care was taken to thoroughly dry the mold and all its surroundings, since the great source of accident in large castings arises from the presence of moisture and consequent development of steam. Everything having been in readiness for several days past, it was decided upon by Mr. James Park to enter upon the casting process this morning, and accordingly at 5 o'clock the fires were started and the cupolas charged with their complement of coke and scrap-iron. At 6:45 the first metal began to flow, this being of the finest quality, as it was to form the top of the anvil. The charging and emptying of the furnaces progressed steadily until towards 12 o'clock (noon), when the whole fluid mass of iron, weighing over 160 tons, lay in its bed. No accident of any kind occurred. It will be six weeks before the casting will be cool enough to move, and it will be four months before the great hammer gets to work. This hammer will stand thirty-four feet high, and will strike a blow of twenty tons. The firm of William Bement & Son, of Philadelphia, are building the hammer, and its total cost Mr. Park gives at $5,200. The largest hammer now in this country is at Nashua, N. H. The Pittsburg hammer will forge steel shafts for steamers, heavy ingots and similar work.

Punished for Eloping.

From the New York Sun, 5th.

Garrett E. Bowman, of East Millstone, N. J., was yesterday convicted, under the laws of New Jersey, for his elopement with Mrs. Lizzie Tunison, the wife of William Tunison, the village schoolmaster. Judge Magie, in passing sentence, said that he was sorry that the law would not permit him to impose a heavier penalty than the confinement of the criminal for six months in the county jail and the imposition of the costs of court. Bowman's offense was peculiarly aggravating. His wife died about ten months ago, and his grief was apparently very great. Mr. Tunison was his friend, and invited him to his house. Mr. Tunison's absence at his business gave an opportunity for frequent visits, which Bowman made until the villagers noticed that something was wrong. Then Bowman made appointments to meet Mrs. Tunison at other places. The guilty pair were traced to hotels in New York and elsewhere. When the affair became public owing to the vigilance of keen-eyed neighbors, Mr. Tunison refused at first to believe his wife guilty. When the proof was made plain to him he chose to forgive his wife. But Mrs. Tunison and Bowman continued their relations and finally eloped. Through the publication of the story in the Sun the culprits were traced to Elmira, N. Y. Citizens of East Millstone, who had much respect and sympathy for Mr. Tunison, furnished the money for prompt pursuit. Bowman was arrested and taken back to East Millstone for trial.

An Ungallant School-Boy.

Shohola (Pa.) Special to N. Y. World.

Barryville, Sullivan county, N. Y., lies opposite this village. Its district school is taught by a young man named Reuben Frazier. George Shik, aged twelve years, was one of his scholars. Shik is a mischievous boy, and the other day he tripped up a girl about his own age as she was passing out of the school-room door. He said it was an accident, but the girl went back and slapped his face. He struck her, and the teacher called him up and flogged him with a stick. Then he was ordered to beg the girl's pardon and shake hands with her. This the boy did. The schoolmaster then said that Shik, to make full amends, must kiss the girl, but this he refused positively to do. His refusal brought him another whipping. Still he said he would not kiss the girl. Then he was flogged for the third time and sent home. Believing that the teacher had no right to insist on their son's kissing any of the girls that attended school with him and that he had punished the boy unjustly, the boy's parents had the teacher arrested on a charge of assault and battery. He was given a hearing by Justice of the Peace Stidd, who sustained the teacher's cause and ordered his discharge. It is said this case will be carried into the county courts.

A Talented Taster.

From the New York World.

A Monsieur X., a most experienced taster, boasted that he could tell the growth and the year of any of the classed wines of the Gironde. His decisions were looked on as articles of faith. No one could prove he was ever mistaken. One day his buggy fell foul of a dust cart and the taster received a fracture of the skull. He was carried into a house, and while waiting for a physician somebody recommended that the wound be bathed with old wine. The master of the house ran down into his cellar and brought back a cobwebbed bottle. A cloth was saturated with the wine and a little of the liquid trickled down the cheeks of the dying man and wetted his lips. He still remained unconscious, but suddenly his nostrils quivered and his lips parted slowly and feebly. Those present came nearer and bent over the body to hear the last wishes. A voice, with which the death-rattle was mingled, murmured: "Cos d'Estournel, '48." These last words of his were the crowning achievement of his life—they were the last words, and they were true ones.

Mrs. Langtry's Retirement.

From the London Figaro.

It is not remarkable that the bare idea of the retirement of Mrs. Langtry from what is called society should have caused considerable consternation. We are not in the confidence of the lady, and can not, therefore, effect to determine whether the prophets who predict she will be no more seen in Belgravian haunts, or the unbelievers who scout the notion that society could exist for many months without the light of her presence, are right. It is, we believe, a fact that the Dean of the Channel Islands—the lady's father—has elected to retire into private life, and has gone to the length of disposing of his household goods. But Mrs. Langtry can hardly hold it to her bounden duty to follow the Dean into seclusion. If there is any truth in the report that she contemplates such a step, it must be, we imagine, that she has reason to fear her star, as reigning beauty, is, from some cause or other, on the wane. Mrs. Langtry can not be queen forever.

JOE EMMET.

Fritz Out of Danger—His Doctor's Report To-day.

Joseph Emmet is pronounced by his physician and his nurses as decidedly better this morning. The public will be glad to know that he is entirely out of danger; indeed he probably never was in any very serious way. He slept reasonably well last night and was asleep when the doctor called at 10 o'clock this morning. When he awoke this morning he called for something to eat. He drank a full tumbler of good beef tea and it stayed on his stomach. This was the first nourishment he had taken since Sunday. He had made several attempts to eat, but his stomach would contain nothing. He has taken no liquor since yesterday noon and has not asked for any. The Doctor has now forbidden him to have a single drop of any intoxicant. He is also looking much better this morning. The redness is disappearing from his face and the bloat is subsiding, so that now he looks quite natural. It is the intention of Dr. Frazer to keep Emmet in bed for ten days longer if possible in order to thoroughly eradicate the alcohol from his system. He will be strong enough to get up in a couple of days, but if he is allowed to go where liquor is before he is fully recovered, he will go right off on another spree and then be in a worse condition than before. The doctor says that Emmet has got to quit drinking now or he will certainly die within a few months of alcoholism. His system has stood dissipation just as long as it will and a change must be made. Many friends have called to see Emmet this morning, but all have been denied admission by the order of the physician. He will not be allowed to see visitors for several days, so that it is useless for people to make the attempt. The impression has gotten abroad somehow that Emmet has had a different illness this time from what naturally follows prolonged dissipation, but this is not so. If he had died his certificate would have read "died of alcoholism." Now that there is no danger of a fatal termination, it is not expected that Mrs. Emmet will come on from Albany, where she is now living.

On Saturday night, October 16, there will be a grand rally and torchlight procession at Belleville, under the auspices of the Garfield and Arthur Club. John A. Logan, Robert G. Ingersoll and other distinguished speakers will address the meeting.

A singular accident occurred at West Belleville this morning. Michael Franz, a boy of about 16, took up a rock to throw at an apple, and threw it with such force as to break his arm near the shoulder. Dr. Listmayr is attending the injured boy.

Chief Renshaw received a letter from Mayor Joyce this morning telling him to take immediate action in removing the obstruction which the Cairo and St. Louis R. R. Co. have placed on Frencley street, contrary to the promise made by L. M. Johnson, General Manager.

This morning at about 3 o'clock a collision occurred between two trains loaded with coal on the St. Louis and Southeastern Railroad, near the bridge approach. No damage was done, with the exception of throwing both trains off the track and upsetting a car load of coal.

Justice Graney fined Joseph Waltmans costs this morning for being drunk on the streets. Mathew Kam was fined $3 and costs for the same offense. Edward Farley was found with a loaded revolver in his possession. 'Squire Graney considered that $25 and costs was little enough for this offense. Officer Wm. Wallace made the arrest in all the cases.

James Kelly has been on the look-out for Sebastian Jacobs for the last five days, to serve him with a summons. This morning he met Sebastian going down the Collinsville road on a dead run. Kelly gave chase and soon overtook the fugitive, who explained that his wife was after presenting him with a little boy and that he was running for a doctor. The summons was not served.

Turner's Mysterious Disappearance.

Patrick Henry Turner, the young bookkeeper of Crosswhite & Robertson's livery stable, who mysteriously disappeared last Friday night, has not yet been heard from. The report that he had been seen near the Union Depot proved, on investigation, to be untrue. He has either committed suicide or left this part of the country for good. It is not yet known whether his accounts were all straight or not with his employers, as they have been too busy to make an examination of the books.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Default having been made in the payment of portion of the notes described in a deed of trust from Jane Hendricks, a widow, dated the 25th of August, 1877, and recorded in the office of Record of Deeds at Clayton, St. Louis county, Missouri, in deed book No. 2, at page 390, notice is hereby given that the undersigned trustee in said deed will, in pursuance of the provisions and for the purposes of said deed, on between the hours of nine o'clock a. m. and three o'clock p. m. of that day, offer for sale, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, for cash, and at the east front of the Court-house, in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, the following real estate to me consigned by said deed, and situated in St. Louis county, Missouri, viz.: Part of the east part of the west fractional half of the southwest quarter of section six, township forty-five north of range six east of the fifth principal meridian, and bounded as follows: Begin at a point in the south line of said section, being the southeast corner of land owned by B. J. Lind, and 11 51-100 chains, more or less, east of the west line of said section; to run thence east 10 79-100 chains to a private roadway 20 feet wide; thence north with the west line of said roadway 15 70-100 chains; thence west 10 39-100 chains to east line of B. J. Lind's land; thence south said east line 15 70-100 chains to place of beginning, and containing 16 62-100 acres.

WEDNESDAY, THE 27TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1880,

JOSIAH G. McCLELLAN.
47F As Trustee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Whereas Edward Cahalan and Mary Ann Cahalan, his wife, by their certain deed of trust dated the 3d day of June, 1867, and recorded in the Recorder's office of the county (now city) of St. Louis, State of Missouri, in book 341, page 295, conveyed to the undersigned the following described lots, pieces or parcels of ground in the county (now city) of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to-wit: Lots numbered eleven (11), twelve (12), thirteen (13) and fourteen (14) of block number eight (8) of Daniel D. Page's Second Addition to St. Louis, having together a front of one hundred feet on south line of Parsons street by a depth of one hundred and twenty feet to a fifteen (15) feet alley, bounded north by Parsons street, east by an alley, south by an alley and west by lot numbered fifteen of said block, and being part of same property acquired by said Cahalan of Wm. Stewart by deed recorded in Book 172, page 244, of St. Louis county (now city) records; which said conveyance to the undersigned was in trust to secure the payment of certain promissory notes therein described; and whereas one of said notes is past due and remains unpaid, and at the request of the legal owner and holder of said note, and in pursuance of the terms of said deed of trust, the undersigned will on,

WEDNESDAY THE 27TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1880,

between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the east front door of the Court-house in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, expose to sale at public vendue, for cash, the said real estate, for the purposes mentioned in said deed of trust.

WILLIAM C. JAMISON,
As Trustee.
St. Louis, October 5, 1880. 48F

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Whereas, John Dierkes and Juliana, his wife, by their certain deed of trust dated March 27, 1872, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds within and for the city (then county) of Saint Louis, Missouri, in book 441, page 388, did convey to the undersigned, Mathias Stoltman, as trustee, the following described real estate, lying and being situate in the city (formerly county) of St. Louis, State of Missouri, to-wit: The following lots, pieces or parcels of ground, lying and being in the city (formerly county) of St. Louis, State of Missouri, in Lagrange addition, a plat of which is of record in the office of the records of St. Louis city (late county): Lots numbered twenty-two and twenty-three (22 and 23). Also lot number twenty-four (24) of Lagrange addition; a plat of said addition is on file at the recorder's office of said city (late county) and State aforesaid. Said lot contains thirty feet front on the north side of Stewart avenue by a depth of one hundred and forty-three feet seven inches to an alley fifteen feet wide; and bounded as follows: on the south by Stewart avenue, on the east by lot number twenty three, on the north by said alley, and on the west by lot number twenty-five, and being in St. Louis City (late county), State of Missouri; it being the same which the said John Dierkes acquired of Henry Greife and wife, by deed bearing even date with said deed of trust; which said conveyance was made in trust to secure the payment of eight certain promissory negotiable notes of even date with said deed of trust and therein fully described, and executed by the said John Dierkes for a part of the purchase money of the aforesaid real estate; and whereas default has been made in the payment of one of said notes for the sum of $800, in said deed described, due in four years after date, and the same remains wholly unpaid with the accrued interest thereon; and whereas the said John Dierkes, since the execution of said notes and deed, has departed this life and more than nine (9) months have elapsed since his death; now, therefore, public notice is hereby given that at the request of the legal holder of said unpaid note and in pursuance of the conditions contained in said deed of trust, I, the undersigned trustee in said deed, will, on between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m. of said day at the east front door of the Court-house in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, proceed to sell the property herein before described, at public vendue, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, for the purpose of satisfying said unpaid note and interest, and the cost and expenses of executing said trust.

SATURDAY, THE 16TH DAY OF OCTOBER, A. D. 1880,

MATHIAS STOLTMAN,
As Trustee.
St. Louis, Mo., September 21, 1880. 49D

WHEREAS, Michael Meyer and Anna Meyer, his wife, by their deed of trust, dated May 17, 1873, recorded in book 473, page 234, of the Recorder's office, city of St. Louis, did convey to the undersigned trustee lots one (1) and two (2) of block 3143 of the present city of St. Louis, in trust to secure the payment of certain notes therein described; and, whereas, by deed in book 530, page 533, of said Recorder's office, said lot two and one foot of lot one was released from said deed of trust, and said debt remains unpaid. Now, therefore, the undersigned trustee will proceed to sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, for cash, at the east front door of the Court-house of the city of St. Louis, Missouri, on

WEDNESDAY, THE 20TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1880,

between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m., the real estate described in said deed of trust which remains charged with the lien, to-wit: Lot one (except one foot on its southern side), of block 33, of survey No. three, of former city of Carondelet, present block 3143 of the city of St. Louis, fronting thirty feet on east side of county road, bounded north by Primm street, east by alley, south by said one foot of lot one, and west by county road.
